

I'm not robot

Continue

Louisiana believes guidebooks ela

LADOE is working with several vendors to deliver a full Louisiana Guide to the ELA curriculum. For 3-8 classes, start with Learn'illion to view, evaluate, and determine which units you plan to implement. For grades 9-12, start with the Louisiana Training Center to view, evaluate, and determine which units you plan to implement. Non-copyrighted materials, such as lessons, student handouts, and materials for teachers, are available at the Louisiana Department of Education. Purchase a unit of readers, 1 per student, for each unit you plan to implement. XanEdu can also save time and resources by printing and delivering handouts in the form of workbooks, as well as teaching guides for teachers. If you're here, it means you're ready to purchase bundled texts! The American Reading Company (ARC) is the exclusive provider of cool word strata or individual texts to use with LA K-12 ELA guidebooks. Scroll down to view and create a quote for units and/or individual titles of choice. Distance learning Texts and Distance Learning Independent Text Reading are being identified! Please look for and flags in each block of Classes 3-12 for selected texts where the LDOE recommends one copy per student so students can take the books home if necessary. Please note that these flags are only in the 2020 version of high school units, classes 9-12. Please order additional amounts to cover all students in the a la carte section. Note the LDOE order of the unit. Although this is only an offer, the LDOE recommends this order for optimal delivery times. Please contact the elaguidebooks@la.gov if you have questions about ordering a unit. Please note that your orders may take longer than the traditional turnaround times you normally experience with an American reading company. This may be due to increased demand and pressure on our publishing partners and printers. We suggest ordering well before your internal deadline to account for potential delays in reprinting or unexpected delays due to COVID-19. If there are unexpected delays, we will notify the school systems immediately. If you would like more specific information about the timing for your quote or order, please contact

